I. Protests of Rules Violations

An alleged violation of the VBCA Rules of Conduct or Humane Rules must first be reported to the Board of Directors and will be handled internally. A person desiring to file a complaint must submit their complaint in writing to the VBCA President, postmarked within seven (7) days of the alleged infraction. Upon receipt, the complaint must be immediately brought to the attention of all Board members. All complaints will be investigated and examined by the Board of Directors to determine if further action may be warranted.

If the Board finds that the complaint is without merit, the complainant will be notified and counseled as to the Board's recommendation to resolve any potential conflict. However, if after investigation, the Board decides there are grounds for possible further action, a Hearing Committee will be appointed and a Disciplinary Hearing will be scheduled according to the provisions outlined in Section F below.

II. Protests of Judges' Rulings

A competitor in a VBCA sanctioned or operated trial may lodge a written and signed protest against a trial judge's scoring that affects the results of the competition or the award of prizes delivered or paid. Such complaints must be accompanied by a $50.00 filing fee, include details of the errors allegedly made by the judge(s), and be submitted to the VBCA President within seven (7) days of the end of the trial.

When a competitor's protest is received, the VBCA President will call a special Board meeting if a regular meeting is not scheduled within thirty (30) days. The protest will be examined and investigated to determine its merits. A majority decision of the Board will be final.

If the protest is sustained, the placement order of the trial will be changed and all prizes involved shall be re-awarded as the Board decides. If the protest is refused, the trial placement order and awards shall stand.

Details of sustained protests are to be included in the minutes for discussion at the next meeting of the Board of Directors to decide if action against the judge(s) may be necessary.

Following a sustained protest, the VBCA Board of Directors may, by majority vote, determine that a judge will not be permitted to judge a VBCA sanctioned or operated trials for a period set at their discretion. A majority of the committee members shall constitute a quorum for hearing purposes.
